Determining Current Real Estate Taxes Required

Now we compare all other revenues (Federal, State and other local revenue) to the volume needed in the expenditures bucket to determine the current real estate taxes required.

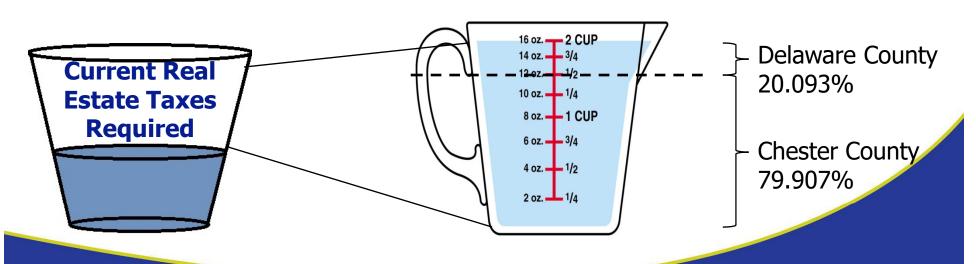

Splitting Between Counties

Section 672.1(a)(1) of the Public School Code proscribes how the tax burden is shared in multiple county school districts. Pennsylvania Department of Community & Economic Development's State Tax Equalization Board (STEB) determines the market value, by township, of taxable properties in the School District, which is used to determine tax revenue required from each County (Chester vs. Delaware).

Use of Grant Funds

PCCD 33979 – custodial supplies, disinfectant, electrostatic sprayers, hand sanitizer, PPE for schools, technology equipment for distance learning, touch free thermometers, signage, posters and floor markings

PCCD 35303 – additional bus driver hours for mid day and social distanced runs, additional PPE and additional technology equipment for hybrid learning

CARES – air purification systems and filters for these units

ESSER I – one elementary staff position to maintain class sizes to allow social distancing for the 2020-21 school year, purchase Seesaw software for K-5 distance learning

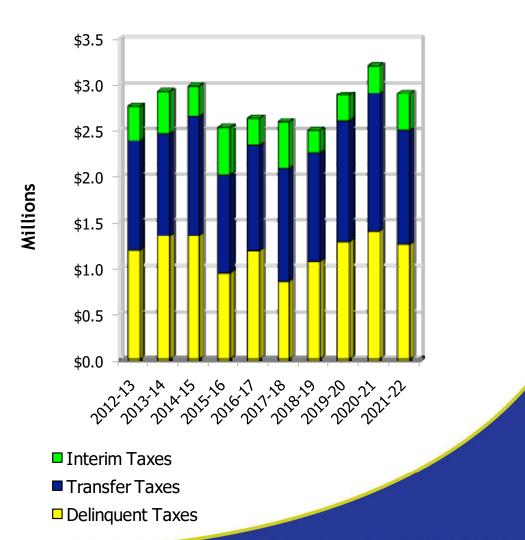

ESSER II – staff costs incurred with additional sabbaticals and extended sick leaves during 2020-21 school year

ARP ESSER III – 20% minimum for skills development during 2021-22 through 2023-24, additional PPE and filters, tent rentals for 2021-22 school year, staff and curriculum to transition virtual academy, further consultation with Dr. Suleiman additional pay for nurses for COVID testing

Other Local Revenue Trend

- Delinquent Taxes have been lower as less is liened each year
- Transfer & Interim Taxes are volatile and very dependent upon the economy
 - Transfer based on sales
 - Interims based on new construction and additions

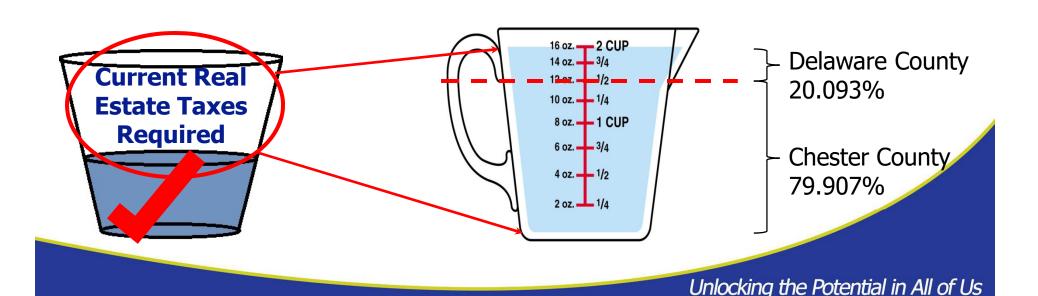

State Funding

- State funding is neither reliable nor adequate.
- Allocation of new state funds among the 500 school districts and other education agencies is usually fraught with political deal making in Harrisburg.

Splitting Between Counties

Section 672.1(a)(1) of the Public School Code proscribes how the tax burden is shared in multiple county school districts. Pennsylvania Department of Community & Economic Development's State Tax Equalization Board (DCED STEB) determines the market value, by township, of taxable properties in the School District, which is used to determine tax revenue required from each County (Chester vs. Delaware).

Each County's Tax Rate

Once each county's share of the revenue is determined based on the market values, the millage is determined by spreading the tax revenue required across the taxable assessed value determined by the respective county's tax assessment office.
